Owner News

A newsletter for Property Owners and Managers participating in the Chicago Housing Authority's Housing Choice Voucher Program

Q1 2018

Message From the CEO

Dear Housing Choice Voucher Participants,

It is with gratitude to residents and participants, housing advocates, addressors and community partners that I write to you. In my new position as the official Chief Executive Officer of the CHA, Mayor Hancock nominated me to that position in late January and the Board of Commissioners approved it on February 14.

Through our collective efforts you've made my months so far a very productive one. We continue to increase housing opportunities, most recently with the acquisition of 111 new apartments for seniors at the former Procter-Kim Homes on the South Side and the opening of Casa Quinones in Pilsen with 40 affordable apartments. In addition, development plans moved forward at Calvert Homes and LaSalle Homes bringing more affordable housing opportunities to Chicago.

CHA also plans to intensify its outreach efforts to make awareness of the HCV program to private property owners with the goal of providing increased housing opportunities to our families across the city. Thank you for HCV participants as well. This year CHA will allocate $5 million to businesses owned by HCV participants and public housing residents (called Section 8 businesses). To maximize participation, we conducted a Section 8 Symposium on Feb. 23 at the United Registry focused on preparing HCV and CHA residents, property management contracting opportunities. The event was a great success and we are looking to do more in the future.

I am also happy to announce that CHA is accepting applications for the Participant Council through March 14. The application is available at all HCV regional offices and is posted on CHA's website at www.cha.org. I encourage anyone who is interested in working with CHA to improve the HCV program to apply.

As we look toward spring and a new season, I also look forward to continuing the momentum of the past year as CHA seeks to continue to build strong, vibrant communities throughout the City of Chicago.

One initiative that I am particularly excited about is our "Year of the Youth" campaign. Building on efforts that amount to at least 2,000 young people participated, Year of the Youth is a year-long youth engagement campaign that includes intern and mentoring opportunities at businesses and non-profit agencies, a variety of education and skill enrichment, the establishment of a Youth Council and a Youth Summit. We want to do all we can to put young people clear path to college and jobs.

We have a long and exciting year ahead - enhancing housing opportunities, and as important, enhancing opportunities for all who live in them.

I look forward to working together to achieve our goals.

Sincerely,
Rajana Jones, Jr. CEO
